Opinion

by Stephanie Yeagle

View Author Profile

syeagle@ncronline.org
Follow on Twitter at @ncrSLY

Join the Conversation

Send your thoughts to Letters to the Editor. Learn more

September 19, 2017

Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Irish call to suspend deacon ordinations gets cool reception. Related: Irish priests call for diaconate pause

Soul Seeing: My parents opened the door to the unmerited gift of grace

Eco Catholic: 'Sacred chow' teaches us to behave politically about food ICYMI: Artist William Kelly believes we can 'change things for the better'. This profile is part of our Making Peace series.

In Bolivia, when the water dries up, so does the economy

Indian priest says Yemeni captors did him no physical harm

Global Sisters Report: South Sudan's religious renew their strength amid civil war

Q & A with Sr. Sharon Dillon, executive director of the National Religious

Vocation Conference

Column: The path of holy disobedience

ICYMI: In civil war, soldiers are the wild cards -- and tough to access

In other news around the web:

Mike Huckabee and the Rise of Christian Media Under Trump

Would you Adam and Eve it? Why creation story is at heart of a new spiritual divide

Push for hate crimes law after ugly incident in North Dakota

Advertisement

The Supreme Court may not be the right place to settle the Masterpiece Cakeshop case, which pits marriage equality against religious freedom

Church declines to release records related to Netflix show

Catholic Church ramps up its role in gay marriage debate

The 11 Sisters of Siervas Are a Rock Band Like 'Nun' Other