

by Dennis Coday

View Author Profile

dcoday@ncronline.org

Follow on Twitter at @dcoday

Join the Conversation

For more Editorial cartoons, click here.

NCR staff writer Brian Roewe was with the U.S. bishops' conference in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, this week. Some highlights from that meeting:

Some bishops had called for a completely fresh re-write of their quadrennial guide to participation in the political process, to better reflect the current political climate.

Most declined that challenge voting instead supplement rather than redraft and

reissue Faithful Citizenship guide. (This article is a total update from the story we posted yesterday, so check it out. You might say that -- unlike Faithful Citizenship -- our story has been revised and reissued. ;)

The bishops began their spring assembly decrying Trump administration's immigration policies US bishops condemn separating families at border

They also made incremental changes to the Dallas Charter, their guiding document on addressing sexual abuse of minors by clergy: Expanded background checks among changes to child protection charter

Michael Sean Winters wasn't physically in Florida, but he had his finger on the pulse of the meeting:

- On immigration and 'faithful citizenship,' US bishops avoid the challenge
- US bishops need to be shepherds amid deportations, demonizations
- Democracy's state demands that bishops update 'Faithful Citizenship' document

NCR has been following the immigration issue closely since before Donald Trump came to office. Here's a round of our most recent reporting: Families Separated at the Border

Brownsville, Texas -- Inside Casa Padre, the converted Walmart where the U.S. is holding nearly 1,500 immigrant children

Advertisement

Archbishop Luis Ladaria, prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, stirred up some water when he wrote in L'Osservatore Romano last month reaffirming the Catholic Church's ban on the ordination of women as priests, writing in a new article that the teaching has a "definitive character" and "is a truth belonging to the deposit of faith." Reactions were swift to come, Advocates dismayed by reaffirming ban on women priests, with a great many finding Ladaria's arguments not only unconvincing but frankly repetitive of views refuted many times over.

I dug into the NCR archives, and found a couple of gems from the U.S. bishops' conference meeting, which I wrote about here: Ban on women priests didn't seem settled teaching in 1992 Sr. Christine Schenk went a lot deeper than I did, digging into ancient texts and archeology. She found Vatican statements on women and ordination ahistorical and biblically naive. It is embarrassing. We've got more to come on this topic next week, so stay tuned.

Roman Catholic Woman Priest celebrates 10 years of ministry in Winona, Minnesota. "It's really humbling when I think of the good things that have happened in these 10 years. It's just a blessing."

Dr. Gwen L. DuBois, president of Chesapeake Physicians for Social Responsibility, says that North Korea shouldn't have nukes — and neither should we

An interesting piece from Smithsonian magazine: The History of Black Catholics in America The Black Catholic Movement reinvigorated the church, with liturgical innovation, new preaching styles and activist scholarship.

Chilean Police Raid Offices Of Catholic Church In Sex Abuse Scandal

Is this true? The bishops want more control over your health care?

Have you been inspired by Pope Francis' exhortation Gaudete et Exultate \("Rejoice and Be Glad"\) to join the journey of 'small holiness', NCR and Celebration have the resources to help:

- Start your day inspired with daily Scripture reflections. Join NCR's sister publication, Celebration, for Daily Bread, a series of short reflections written by four authors who meet regularly to share the readings.
- Or reflect on Pencil Preaching by Pat Marrin. Every morning Pat Marrin breaks open the Word with a pencil sketch and a short meditation.